

Cross-domain evaluation needs an explicit held-out world

Define the shift, isolate the target domain and keep model selection inside source domains

Report in-domain and out-of-domain results separately; do not tune on target-domain labels.