

Missing-class generation is an evaluation problem

Separate image plausibility from recognition value and cross-domain robustness

Guardrail: split real data first; fit generation on training data only; deduplicate before evaluation.